Paul L. White of Keller Williams Realty Premier Properties Declared President-Elect of the Florida Chapter of CCIM

Miami, Fl. (2-09)–Keller Williams Realty Premier Properties is pleased to announce Paul L. White, Director of their Commercial Division, as President-Elect of the Florida CCIM (Certified Commercial Investment Member) Chapter, effective January 2009. He is slated to take over the position in 2010. The CCIM is a prestigious organization dedicated to the advancement and education of commercial brokers. Of the 60 chapters of CCIM throughout the world with a roster of over 800 members, Florida's chapter boasts the largest membership.

The CCIM designation is a challenging course of study for commercial brokers with educational seminars and exams as well as a minimum volume requirement of 30 million dollars in commercial transactions. Upon meeting the criteria, applicants must also pass a comprehensive concepts review exam in which they are again tested on all of the material.

Paul served two years as the president of the Miami-Dade/Monroe District of CCIM and has been chairperson for the past three years for the Miami-Dade CCIM Commercial Real Estate Outlook Conference. This conference gathers the most influential commercial real estate professionals in the industry to offer analysis on the current trends and conditions in the commercial market.

As President of the Florida chapter of CCIM, Paul plans to continue the organization's goal to further educate commercial brokers, foster networking between brokers, and to provide the technological training and assistance necessary for commercial brokers to effectively do their business in the state of Florida.

Paul L. White, CPM® is also President of Paul L. White & Associates, a commercial real estate company that consults clients about property management, commercial real estate expert consulting and broker training throughout the country and internationally. Paul is a graduate of Georgia Tech and holds four major real estate designations: CCIM, Certified Commercial Investment Member; CPM, Certified Property Manager; CSM, Certified Shopping Center Manager; and RPA, Real Property Administrator.
