

Homebuyer options for 2009

In 2009, there will be great opportunities for first time homebuyers, trade up buyers, and real estate investors. The foreclosure situation in Northern California will offer savvy buyers the opportunity to purchase real estate at very low prices. The opportunity to create huge amounts of wealth through real estate ownership has never been better.

For a homebuyer, here are some of your options.

- Buy a bank owned, or REO home, at greatly discounted prices.
- Buy a home that is in short sale at greatly discounted prices.
- Buy a home at auction, either at the courthouse steps, or at a reserve auction.

Click on the links below for information on all of these options.
