

Maybe there's something to that "In Like a Lion" thing.....

Beer is Always in Season.....

And luckily so is crawfish. The Atlanta Brewing company over on the West Side is having their "beer tours" with a special Crawfish Boil on Thursday, March 5th. That's tomorrow so hop to it.....

The Sixth Annual Phoenix Flies: A Citywide Celebration of Living Landmarks

March 7-22, The Atlanta Preservation Center presents more than 100 events, from guided tours to lectures to open houses, at dozens of Atlanta's historic sites. All events are free. See www.phoenixflies.org for more details.

First Thursdays Artwalk

March 5, 2009 and features several openings in Downtown galleries. The Atlanta-Fulton Public Library Gallery hosts a reception for "Dear World: Sending a Visual Text to the World" to celebrate International Women's Month. The VSA arts of Georgia exhibition opens "Going to Red", a project inspired by the Go Red for Women Campaign and organized by the American Heart Association. The show includes original visual artwork in diverse mediums, created by local and Georgia artists. www.downtownfirstthursdays.com

Road Warriors Unite!!!

Here's a handy little tool for you guys who suffer at the diabolical hands of our airports and airlines. It offers a little extra flexibility.

Livin' la vida cheapo.....

Here's some of my personal and our reader suggestions on good sites (and places) to get all sorts of good stuff on the cheap. I personally like the woot.com and I'm holding out for the Wii. Oh, and if one of your suggestions didn't make it on here its probably because I forgot and not because I didn't like it.

The Power of Shaming

I love this site. It calls out lenders who own properties and don't do the neighborhood any favors. Not much in Atlanta right now but it'll catch on.

Uncle Sam Really Wants you to Buy a House

And they're giving First time Homebuyers up to 8 Grand to do it. As always contact your tax professional (like Tom and Jose at Tax Solutions) to get all the details but just another pretty sweet incentive out there. Lenders are actually trying to figure out a way to use that money up front as a sort of downpayment.

VROOM, VROOM!

The AJC Auto Show is the premier auto show for the Southeast and one of the 10 largest in the nation. The Auto Show is open to the public and will feature all types of vehicles including limited production and concept vehicles. www.ajcautoshow.com

PANT, PANT.....

On March 29th, 2009, Centennial Olympic Park hosts the start and finish of the ING Georgia Marathon and Half Marathon. The races travel through Atlanta's most interesting and historic neighborhoods including the Sweet Auburn District, Inman Park, Downtown, Midtown and Decatur. www.inggeorgiamarathon.com

TRIVIA TIME!

OK, So last month, after 5 years of trivia harassment (and 10 years of general harassment from me) Joyce Mitchell FINALLY got a trivia question right. She correctly guessed that the 'Mighty Mo' at the Fox Theater was named after M. P. Moeller, Inc who designed and built that monster. It was NOT named after the USS Missouri as a few guessed..... Proof: <http://www.foxtheatre.org/mightyMo.htm>

So, for an oh so valuable prize, the first to answer:

What is the highest waterfall East of the Mississippi River?
