Google Maps for Real Estate (formerly Google Base) makes your listing searchable on Google. Your listings will be displayed on a map, allowing consumers to hover over listings to get the basics, and click to see more details. The search results include photos, street view, aerial views, nearby businesses, schools and more. By displaying your listing information to Google -- quickly, easily and for free -- you can ensure that the right potential buyers will be able to find your properties, right when they're most actively looking for them.

Sell Your Home with the Help of Yahoo! Real Estate. By displaying your property listings on Yahoo! nationwide you reach the Internet's largest classified audience. Users of Yahoo! Real Estate Classifieds number in the millions. In addition to surfing more than 3 million properties for sale or for rent, consumers can also view maps with homes for sale, schools, parks and more.

AOL Real Estate is a resource for homebuyers and renters of all demographics and offers consumers the necessary tools and resources to make a smart investment. The site is focused on delivering a customized experience for multiple audiences, including first time home buyers, buying a second property, renting, selling or home improvement.

Trulia is a residential real estate search engine that helps consumers search for homes for sale, trends, neighborhood insights and other real estate information directly from hundreds of thousands of real estate broker Web sites. Consumers can create their own custom search by price, number of bedrooms, neighborhood and more - without having to submit a lead form, provide personal information or wait to get contacted by a lead qualifier who may not handle the property listing. All traffic interested in more information on a property will be directed to the content provider's Web site, and the lead goes directly to you without intervention or fees!
