

FIGURE 31 In a market with rising home values, if a seller wants a price that's ahead of the market, the market may go up enough to make that price attractive for buyers. Time can cure some mistakes and make people look smart.