LiveEarth: The Concerts for a Climate in Crisis

On July 7th, 2007, a monument to music and eco-awareness will be forged, spanning twenty-four hours and seven continents. It's LiveEarth, a concert series designed to raise awareness and involvement in everything Green; from quelling global warming, to promoting alternative energy, to living a more ecologically harmonious life.

LiveEarth broadcasts begin at 9 pm EDT (6 pm here in Arizona) on 7/6/07 from Sydney, Australia, followed by shows in Tokyo, Shanghai, Hamburg, London (featuring Madonna and the legendary Spinal Tap!), Johannesburg, New York, and Rio de Janeiro. There will even be a special broadcast by Nunatak from a research station in Antarctica. The New York lineup includes such artists as Smashing Pumpkins, Roger Waters, Dave Matthews Band, Ludacris, and The Police.

Be sure to visit www.LiveEarth.msn.com to see your favorite bands, and to learn all about ways to help save the planet.
